Manufacturing concerns and other enterprises which employ labor on a large scale, may make valuable contribution to the national food supply by encouraging their employes to cultivate war gardens. Many concerns furnish large tracts of land, which are divided into individual garden plots. These plots are allotted to such employes as are willing to cultivate them. Each plot and everything it produces are recognized as the individual property of its cultivator. The company bears the expense of plowing and fertilizing these plots and employs an expert to have charge. It is a good plan for municipal governments to arrange for lectures at school houses or other places on practical problems in gardening. HOW TO HAVE A GOOD GARDEN
Garden Plan Have a plan for your garden drawn to scale on paper before you start, to give proper order in planting and enable you to buy the right amount of seeds in advance while the selection is good. Put in one general group small plants like beets, onions, lettuce, carrots, radishes and parsnips. In another general group put larger plants like corn, tomatoes and potatoes. Spreading ground vines, like melons and cucumbers, which need wider spacing, should be put in another general group. The reason for this grouping is that the various plants in a group need similar general treatment as well as spacing. In making a plan provide space in which to enter costs and yield on the various crops. This will give you a complete record which will be useful another year. A nother helpful use of the plan is that it will guide you in the rotation of next years crops. For this purpose save your plan for next season In planning vour garden formulate some definite plan as to what you will do with surplus vegetables, Detailed instructions lor home storage of vegetables for winter use,are given in Part II of this booklet. Detailed instructions for canning
